

Private Luxury Yacht seeks Chef with Cantonese Cuisine Skills

A large private yacht currently in Europe seeks an experienced chef who is able to cook Cantonese cuisine for the owner of the yacht and his guests as well as to cook global cuisine for the crew working on the yacht.

Working in a team of 3 the chef will need to speak English and must also be able to produce a varied menu of healthy food for the crew who are from around the world.

This is a permanent year round role with full time contract and offers a competitive salary, holiday pay, flights home etc.

Would suit a chef from senior CDP to Sous chef level able to switch between cooking for owner and crew as required. We will also look at head or executive chef level candidates for a senior role.

Candidates with cruise ship experience preferred who already have STCW 95 and a medical certificate and Seaman's book.

We will look at chefs without cruise ship or yacht experience as well!

Chefs must be male as they will share cabin with another male and you must speak conversational English as rest of crew and captain are English speaking.

You should have a passport that will allow you to work in Europe (EU) and also enter the USA as the yacht will sail in both these areas.

To apply please email in the first instance a CV or resume in word format to me at info@yachtchefs.com and we will then arrange a skype interview with you.

Thank you for your time and interest!
